

Abstract of the Disclosure

A cylinder head gasket is formed of one metal plate having a cylinder bore and a folded portion around the cylinder bore. A paint coating formed of a hard paint layer is provided on at least one side of the metal plate at an outer periphery side of the folded portion for forming a surface pressure thereat. Accordingly, the cylinder head gasket is provided with excellent sealing performance and durability.